

Butterfly, Fly High

Oh butterfly, our butterfly

God called you home,

Your strength, resilience and perseverance, Kensley you tried to hold on,

Our love for you is stronger with every passing minute,

God births his greatest gifts through the wombs of strong and able women,

Egg, caterpillar, pupa then butterfly,

You have gained your wings, and now you're able to fly high,

Children are a crown to the aged, a blessing from God,

Kensley Olivia,

You stretched our heart

Forever, we're awed.

Fly High, Butterfly!

Benediction

Kensley Olivia Quarles gained her butterfly wings on September 16, 2019 at Prisma Health Upstate. She was bow-legged just like her daddy and even had his ears. Her head was large... she got that from her mother. ☺ Kensley will truly be missed.

Surviving: her parents, Derrick Lamar Quarles and LaMia Whiteside-Jones; grandparents: Tony and Toneshia Tolbert and Ella Whiteside and Delwin Braddy; great grandparents: Mackey and Mary Whiteside, Aunts: Raven and Jade Jones, Uncles: Brandon Clagon, Jermaine, Eric, Jarred and Jamar Quarles, Rodney and Kodi Jones and a host of other relatives.
